SUMMARY:

Howard Schneider is owner/creative director of both DesignPrinciples101.com and is a MFA graduate of California State University Los Angeles. He has previously served as adjunct professor in both graphic design and foundation courses at California State University Northridge.

Mr. Schneider's clients have included LAX, Qantas, PAULA Financial, Turner Construction, Aames Funding, Specialty Brands, The New Mart Building, Costa Macaroni, Rosito Bisani Imports, The School of Hotel and Restaurant Management, The Ray Wilson Company, and the City of Compton.

He maintains a strong interest in the role order and chaos play in design theory, and in the Bauhaus legacy. Beginning in November 2010, Mr. Schneider conducted numerous workshops on the topic of design principles at various Southern California colleges and universities. The workshop, entitled Design Principles Workshop, was developed originally as part of a research project, eventually leading to the online learning environment: DesignPrinciples101.com.

TEACHING PHILOSOPHY:

As a graphic design instructor, Howard Schneider's goal has been to develop in each student the ability and confidence to address visual communication issues conceptually, visually, technically. As a foundation course instructor, his goal is to instill in each student a principle-based groundwork upon which their personalities can intuitively and cognitively flourish.

EDUCATION:

Master of Fine Arts, Design; California State University Los Angeles, 2009.

Thesis topic: The role of unintentional narratives in graphic design.

Studies included information design, type design, and graphic design for entertainment.

Bachelor of Arts; California State University Los Angeles, 1974.

Studies included graphic design, typography, color theory, exhibition design, and illustration.

EMPLOYMENT:

2001 – 2020, California State University Northridge, Adjunct Professor
Northridge, California

Instruction in foundation art (two-dimensional design and color theory) and applied design courses (graphic design and typography).

2018– 2019, California State University Los Angeles, Adjunct Professor
Los Angeles, California

Instruction in applied design coursework (typography).

2001 – 2014, Pasadena City College, Adjunct Professor
Pasadena, California

Introduction to the professional practice, craft, and formal aspects of graphic design and advertising.

2010– 2013, Academy of Art University, Adjunct Professor
San Francisco, California (online)

Online instruction for undergraduate and graduate level courses in graphic design.

2010, The Art Institute of California – Hollywood, Adjunct Professor
North Hollywood, California

Instruction in fundamentals of design (two-dimensional design).

2007, Westwood College, Adjunct Professor
Los Angeles, California

Portfolio development class for graduating graphic design students.

EMPLOYMENT:

2010– present: Founder, creative director, program director: DesignPrinciples101.com

1987– 2009: Howard Schneider Design; Creative Director, Art Director, Altadena, California

Developing and implementing creative strategies for a varied spectrum of companies in the areas of software development, finance, real properties and development, retail, and food service. These strategies are articulated through marketing vehicles such as annual reports, corporate identity, sales literature, direct mail, event graphics, and internet site design.

RESEARCH ACTIVITIES:

WORKSHOPS AND ONLINE LEARNING DEVELOPMENT

■ Design Principles Workshop 1 – A series of personally funded and directed workshops directed at enabling advanced students to discover or re-discover essential coordinating principles of design began in November 2010, running through November 2011. Eleven day-long workshops were conducted among five institutions with the intended purpose of developing and refining a short-term pedagogical model for potential adoption by most art and design college programs. Conducted at CSUN; UCLA Extension; Long Beach City College; Cerritos College; and Santa Ana City College.

■ Design Principles Workshop 2 – The first workshop concept was expanded into a ten-week, online format involving video critiques and ten volunteers; Summer 2012.

■ DesignPrinciples101.com – An online, supplemental art and design learning environment created as a result of the aforementioned workshop research activities and user experience (UX) beta testing.

■ Design Principles 101 Videos – A series of 43, roughly two- to six-minutes in length videos on Design Principles and Rhythm were designed and produced beginning Summer 2012 and made available through <http://www.designprinciples101.com>.

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITY: DESIGN PRINCIPLES 101

■ Los Angeles World Airways (LAX) – Professional training. Conducted a six-week course in design principles for an in-house graphic design staff of six. Objectives included stimulation of creative thinking, improve work efficiency, and to circumvent "autopilot" thinking.

■ DesignPrinciples101.com – An online, supplemental art and design learning environment.

HOWARD SCHNEIDER DESIGN

■ Specialty Brands Inc. – Product Line Brochures and Promotional Campaign: Designed and directed a creative team of writers, photographic and production staff in the creation of full line product brochures, merchandising and direct response campaigns for Posada and Butcher Boy brands of Mexican food items for food service. Visual direction was eventually adopted into a vertical extension of company brands.

■ Costa Macaroni Manufacturing Co. – Brand positioning and Advertising: Successfully repositioned family owned pasta brand through competitive brand advertising analysis. Designed and directed writing, stylists, photographic and production staff in creating the highest responding ad campaign in the company's history.

■ The New Mart Building – Various Promotions: Conceived, designed, and supervised writing, photography, production, media buy and lithography for print ads, press kit, office directories, direct mail, and event graphics.

■ Aames Funding, Ameriquest Mortgage, and Pacific Thrift and Loan – Direct Mail: Art Directed and managed a creative team of writers and assistant designers in developing a series of direct mail packages for various mortgage lenders. Our team created the control (highest responder rate) package for each company, and one of the highest conversion to loan rate packages in Pacific Thrift and Loan's history.

- PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITY:
- PAULA Financial – Conceived, designed PAULA Financial Annual Reports, 2002-2006.
  - Qantas– Conceived and designed employee handbook system and human resources collateral materials Qantas North America.
  - Rotary of Los Angeles – Conceived, designed, and contributed writing to an award winning series of direct mail postcards entitled, Let's Do Lunch, for the purpose of increasing membership. New membership increased nearly 25% within first six months of campaign launch.
  - Ray Wilson Company – Designed a templated formatting system for a general contractor in need of a more consistent appearance to their multi-sectioned, in-house generated proposals.
  - The Attivo Group – Designed corporate identity for a business management software development company: <http://www.attivoconsulting.com>.
- PUBLISHED: Issues Affecting the Dissemination of Design Principles in Art and Design Education; FATE in Review 2021-2022
- DISTINCTION: 2004 Gold Medal, direct mail category, Rotary Club International, Let's Do Lunch campaign.
- EXHIBITIONS: Graduate Thesis Exhibition, California State University Los Angeles, November 2009.
Graduate Design Art Exhibition, California State University Los Angeles, April 2009.
Design Option Walk-Through, California State University Los Angeles, March 2008.
- ORGANIZATIONS: AIGA, the professional association for design.
Rotary International, Los Angeles chapter
- CONFERENCES: Presenter at the FATE 2019 Conference, Columbus Ohio, April 2019
- ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS: Launching the Imagination, 5th edition, 2015. Mary Stewart, author; McGraw-Hill, publisher.
- TEACHING COURSEWORK: CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY NORTHRIDGE
- Beginning Two Dimensional Design: Course introduces students to the notion of art as an intuitive response to a decision making process. Design elements and principles are introduced through a variety of techniques and materials. Special emphasis is placed on design principles as the primary driver behind the dynamic relationship between all design elements.
  - Color Theory: Students are introduced to color interaction, movement, physical and emotional properties of color. Johannes Itten's Seven Contrasts of Color serve as the course's foundation for activities.
  - Art, Media and Visualization: Students are introduced to the primary tools for image creation and editing: Adobe Illustrator, Photoshop and InDesign.
  - Graphic Design I: This introductory course in visual communications provides an effective transition from 2D principles into narrative application. The student's foundational sensibilities are re-ignited and applied to real-world visual communication issues involving type and image.
  - Graphic Design II: This intermediate course exposes students to more advanced conceptual problems in the field of visual communication and the intermediate skills required to fulfill them. A micro/macro approach to visual communication issues is taken. Brand development issues are also explored.

- TEACHING COURSEWORK:
- Introduction to Typography and Advanced Typography: Course goals include sensitizing students to form, spacial and communication issues involving letterform, readability and hierarchal issues; typographic technologies and their history; type and imagery as a compositional components. The advanced course afforded deeper mainstream and deconstructed grid development.
  - Introduction to Typography and Advanced Typography (continued): these issues into structured and deconstructed grid systems and logotype development.
    - > Field trips arranged: Hamagami/Carrol Inc., Typecraft lithographers, Getty Museum, Bergamot Station, Metropolitan Transit Authority design offices, Los Angeles.
    - > Guest speakers arranged: Doyald Young, Wayne Hunt, Leo Monahan, Eric La Brecque, various paper company representatives.
    - > Workshops arranged: Leo Monahan on design inspiration; Leo Monahan on color theory; Eric La Brecque on branding.
  - Computer Publishing Design: Course goals include application of graphic design principles to computer generated page layout. Using current software applications, this course covers design of text documents, graphic elements, and their incorporation into page layouts. Emphasis is placed on concept development and multi-page sequence design.
    - > Field trips arranged: Typecraft; Pasadena, CA
  - Art, Media and Visualization: Course goals refer to the way art, technology and visual representation shape current visual practice. Includes intro to Illustrator, Photoshop and InDesign.

PASADENA CITY COLLEGE

- Introduction Advertising Graphic Design – This introductory course in visual communications provides an effective transition from two-dimensional principles into narrative application. The student's foundational sensibilities are re-ignited and applied to real-world advertising and graphic design issues. Concept are given priority in their expression through type and imagery.
  - > Field trips arranged: Typecraft, Hunt Design, Pasadena Advertising; Pasadena, CA.

ACADEMY OF ART UNIVERSITY (ONLINE)

- Making Ideas Visible – A graduate level course designed to create for each student a stronger awareness of the formal principles of visual communication while introducing the theories, practices and technologies that are essential to the graphic designer's role.
- Principles of Graphic Design – An undergraduate level course designed to provide the beginning designer with the basic principles, terminology, guidelines, methods and systems necessary to solve graphic design problems. Communication methodology, grid usage, compositional issues round out this introductory course.

THE ART INSTITUTE OF CALIFORNIA – HOLLYWOOD

- Fundamentals of Design – Introduces students to the notion of art as an intuitive response to a decision making process. Design elements and principles are introduced through a variety of techniques and materials. Special emphasis is placed on design principles as the primary driver behind the dynamic relationship between all design elements.

WESTWOOD COLLEGE

- Advanced Design Portfolio Review – This course presents students with the opportunity to polish their portfolios, as well as their visual and oral presentation skills. Topics covered include advanced design concepts and techniques, typography, color and marketing skills throughout all portfolio projects.

CONFERENCES

Issues regarding the Effective Dissemination of Design Principles Involving Art and Design Education, is the title of a presentation I've been invited to give at the FATE Conference in Columbus, Ohio, four days from this writing on April 5th. My presentation reflects an alternate view in response to a trending, pedagogical push towards conceptual investigation and its weaving into the core of many foundation curricula.

RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

DesignPrinciples101.com is an art and design learning environment that I've developed for the purpose of establishing a useful platform dedicated to promoting awareness of design principles. A series of experimental workshops were conducted at various colleges and universities in Southern California between 2010 and 2017, which eventually led to the site's development. The documentation of these workshops can be found at: <https://designprinciples101.com/the-story/the-research/>.

TEACHING PHILOSOPHY

My goals in teaching have been as follows: as a graphic design instructor, develop in each student the ability and confidence to address visual communication issues conceptually, visually and technically; as a foundation course instructor, instill in each student a principle-based groundwork upon which their creative personalities can flourish; as a software instructor, make the technical hand not as apparent as the vision.

Understanding and internalizing the principles that enable unity and rhythm is a vital component towards mastering any of the applied or studio arts. This sensibility cannot be adopted and internalized overnight. Reinforcement must be made repeatedly throughout lower and upper division classes. The expression of an otherwise dynamic idea or concept should not be rendered incoherent through a less-than articulate visual approach.

Art and design are dynamic components in a rich and universal language that embraces and supports diverse cultural and ethnic backgrounds. Arriving at a common understanding or appreciation is the challenge that I have enjoyed striving for and – I believe – have been successful at. Every student, whether first generation or otherwise, has a unique portal or channel that we as educators need to find connection with.

PROFESSIONAL AND RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

Howard Schneider Design began in 1987 and has evolved over time, producing award-winning direct mail programs in addition to highly successful advertising campaigns, annual reports, brand identity, business collateral programs, and a design training consultancy.

Client industry segments include: banking; foodservice; airline; software development; building and construction; direct marketing; insurance; and real estate. In addition to account executive and creative director activities, I served as art director on a variety of accounts that required selection and supervision photography, modeling talent, prop stylists and food stylists.

PROFESSIONAL AND RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

The site's evolution as a learning platform began in November 2010 as an offshoot from a series of all-day workshops in design principles conducted at CSUN and several other regional colleges and universities through 2014.

The site's development involved an investigation into the history of art and design education, mid-19th to early 20th centuries and is now contained at the site's Backstory page. The site is populated with art and design artifacts (either embedded or linked to Pinterest pins) about which I've provided detailed critical analysis of the design principles in play. The Pinterest artifacts cover a time frame largely between the 18th/19th century through today and represent artworks and designs across a variety of cultures.

Research for the website led me to investigate the western educational legacy ranging from Ernest Fenellosa and Arthur Wesley Dow through various figures in the Bauhaus universe including Laszlo Moholy- Nagy, Lyonel Feininger and Herbert Bayer. The research required multiple visits during the summer of 2013 to the Getty Research Center, Los Angeles and the examination of rare documents and monoprints in their Collections Room.
